About the CDC Foundation

The CDC Foundation helps the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) save and improve lives by unleashing the power of collaboration between CDC, philanthropies, corporations, community-based organizations, and individuals to protect the health, safety and security of America and the world. We believe that people, groups, and organizations have greater positive impact and can accomplish more collectively than individually. The CDC Foundation is committed to galvanizing support for community-based organizations (CBOs) and to strengthening linkages between them and the public health sector through our existing and expanding network of relationships. The CDC Foundation is the go-to nonprofit authorized by Congress to mobilize philanthropic partners and private-sector resources to support CDC's critical health protection mission. Since 1995, the CDC Foundation has raised over $1.2 billion and launched more than 1,200 programs impacting a variety of health threats from chronic disease conditions including cardiovascular disease and cancer, to infectious diseases like rotavirus and HIV, to emergency responses, including COVID-19 and Ebola. The CDC Foundation managed hundreds of programs in the United States and in more than 140 countries and supported more than 180 community-based organizations to increase uptake of COVID-19 vaccines in the last year.
